Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 18 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A bright day for many, but fog persisting in places.

Today:
Cold start with some frost. Dry for all and generally bright and clear. Some patches of fog and low cloud likely however, particularly in the south, and these persistent in places bringing a cold, dull feel for some. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
Through the evening and overnight remaining dry with the largely clear skies giving a frost for many and areas of fog and low cloud developing once again. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Sunday:
A bright, cold start outside of any fog but turning cloudier through Sunday. Early fog tending to gradually lift but becoming cloudy for all into the day and remaining cool. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Turning brighter through the period, with some sunny spells possible. Generally dry though the chance of a light costal shower. Temperatures remaining rather cold with overnight frosts likely.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.